

In Session Three of our Jamcast interview with Guitar Deity Steve Vai, you'll hear about some of the most dynamic and challenging songs that Steve plays in a live setting. Ken and Steve discuss and breakdown the complex song Blue Powder as one of the songs that is a monster to play live. Steve talks about how he came up with the title to the song and how the song and the composition flowed and just made sense to him. They continue to riff on how Steve comes up with song ideas and creates music. Shifting gears, Ken asks Steve how he keeps his chops up and what his practice routine is like each day. You'll get the inside scoop on what this maestro does when the studio door is closed!

Enjoy this Session with Steve Vai!
