Marty Friedman began his career as a Shrapnel solo recording artist and later joined forces with Jason Becker to form the unrivaled dual guitar unit, "Cacophony", who have a strong influence on today's top guitarists. Amassing worldwide acclaim as a guitar superstar, he came to the attention of Megadeth and the rest is history. Racking up sales of over 10 million records with Megadeth, Friedman continued to record solo records, often embarking on adventurous musical forays far removed from his work with Megadeth, including an album with Golden Globe winner Kitaro.

In a bold move, he left the legendary Megadeth to pursue new musical goals and has succeeded tremendously. Friedman's many accomplishments make him currently the only musician to be a fixture in the top class of the Japanese domestic as well as international music scene. His music performance on national TV with the Tokyo Philharmonic Orchestra, to charting high with his own music and with Japan's top artists, has spurred Friedman into new celebrity territory.

Now residing in Tokyo, Friedman has become a television celebrity appearing as a regular on 5 major networks, he can be seen on mainstream hit TV programs almost every day in Japan. "It's all these insane experiences the last couple years in Japan that couldn't be musically farther from my roots that make it so rewarding to make an all-out aggressive album now," recalls Friedman.

EXHIBIT "A" - LIVE IN EUROPE is exactly the kind of record that Friedman fans have been waiting for. It is heavy, melodic as he digs down deep to his roots, and spotlights the true talent in Friedman's riveting live performance.

EXHIBIT "A" - LIVE IN EUROPE will be released on August 19th, 2008 in the U.S. For more information click to www.martyfriedman.com or www.mascotrecords.com
