

(STEVENSVILLE, MD) - From Carlos Santana to Paul Allender, PRS artists discuss why they have come to rely on PRS guitars in a video clip posted online this week by PRS Guitars. Many key PRS executives and designers also share their thoughts on what it is like to have a part in creating instruments known the world over for their distinct style and quality.

The ten-minute vignette quickly cuts to the chase and conveys the spirit of PRS as experienced by the people that count on PRS guitars to make their living. An additional hour of artist interview footage and candid commentary will be included as part of the full-length DVD to be released this summer.

Click here to watch the video